

CONTACT: ERIC WONG
JOVIAN TECHNOLOGY INC
1.905.366.0100 ext.81 / 1.888.584.2584 ericw@jovian.ca

Europa Introduces Hot Standby Email Server for Email Continuity

Europa offers an affordable solution for preventing email loss

Mississauga, ON – May 5, 2010 – Jovian Technology Inc. (www.jovian.ca) today announced that version 3.0.9 of its Europa, the hot standby redundant email server with anti-spam/anti-virus features and its latest Anti-Virus Engine, is now available.

In line with your email server, Europa can now act as a hot standby email server preventing you from email loss. As a safety net for your email server, it provides first-line-of-defense which blocks harmful email to reduce the work load of your email server, and it also provides last-line-of-service as an email server when your email server fails. This is an affordable and self-managed solution for email continuity.

The two major methods from this release that provide email continuity are Hot Standby Redundancy and Proactive Monitoring.

Hot Standby Redundancy

Emails are delivered to your email server and kept on Europa. While your email server is down, Europa will queue emails for delivery and send alert notifications to the preconfigured contact(s). Meanwhile, users can still send and receive emails using Europa's built-in email server for continuity. When your email server is back online, all the queued emails will be delivered to your email server.

Proactive Monitoring

With the proactive monitoring feature, Europa periodically sends its health status to Jovian's monitoring center. When the monitoring center does not receive the health status from your Europa by the expected time, alert notifications will be sent to the preconfigured contact(s). This ensures the administrator is aware of any disruption with the email service, and provides preemptive email continuity protection, quicker turnaround time and reduced cost of diagnosis/ownership.

For more information, please refer to the white paper on Email Continuity for Exchange at www.jovian.ca/europa.html.

Major Feature in version 3.0.9

Latest Anti-Virus Engine

Version 0.95.3 of the anti-virus engine (ClamAV) has been obsoleted. The anti-virus engine has been upgraded to 0.96 (latest) for Europa to operate properly.

More Superior Features in version 3.0.9

Other great features that come with this release are as follows:

- Sender server reputation check
- Domain level bounce verification
- Outbound sender verification
- Auto whitelist email to webmail contact address book
- Light weight email summary prepare for mobile device
- Self CSR generation (for SSL Certificate purchase)
- Improved LDAP page
 - Better LDAP user status integration. When Europa detects a user status change based on the current LDAP filter, the administrator is now able to pick the user status they want.
- Configurable MPOP alert
- Configurable inbound/outbound queue timeout
- User email summary scheduler overridable settings
 - With one click, the administrator can now override the email summary scheduler setting values for all users.
- More virus infected email delivery options
 - The administrator can now quarantine or pass the virus infected emails accordingly, based on either the recipient or sender.

###

About Jovian Technology Inc.

Jovian Technology is a Canadian company focusing on IT infrastructure and application product development. The company's primary product offering is Europa, the hot standby redundant email server with anti-spam/anti-virus features. It can be a hot standby redundant email server, an anti-spam filter, a primary email server, or any combination.

Our mission is to provide the Value Added Resellers (VARs) and their customers with a save-more-get-more email solution. Jovian believes that VARs have developed long term relationships with their customers. They are the trusted business/technical advisors, eliminating fears, uncertainties and doubts that customers have towards IT products and services.

To achieve our mission, Jovian is committed to bringing innovative ideas and continuous improvements to our products. Since its first release, Europa has maintained a high standard towards functionality, usability, and affordability. Jovian continues to work closely with our VARs to incorporate many valuable features and product enhancements. As a result, Europa continues to evolve and better serves the end customers.